Pluralism in the Missional Contexts of Asia

21st September to 25th September 2026
Seminari Theoloji Malaysia, Seremban

SCAN TO REGISTER

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Asia's diverse religions, philosophies, ethnicities, and cultures demand a serious Christian mission engagement with religious pluralism. This course prepares students to navigate pluralist environments in Asia through theological and intercultural competencies, emphasizing real-world implications for evangelism, church planting, community development, interfaith dialogue, and ecclesial identity. Utilizing mission theology, study of religions, postcolonial studies, and contextual theology, students will cultivate frameworks for contextually sensitive witnessing amidst religious diversity.

Integral Mission

5th October – 9th October 2026

Seminari Theoloji Malaysia, Seremban

This course will explore the theoretical framework and practical application of integral mission. It will introduce 'Holistic Development Framework' which is a holistic approach that integrates proclamation of the Gospel with social responsibility, justice, compassion, and transformation. This course will also explore how faith communities can embody the Kingdom of God through both word and deed, addressing issues such as poverty, inequality, injustice, and human flourishing. Students in this course will engage with the dynamic relationship between the Gospel, culture, and context. Recognizing that mission is lived out within diverse social, cultural, political, and economic realities, the course equips students to thoughtfully discern how God is at work in specific cultural contexts. The course will equip students to develop contextual sensitivity, intercultural competence, and the ability to navigate complexity in global mission.
